OWASP TOP 10 2017

Compliance Report

21 April 2026

Generated by Acunetix

Description

The primary aim of the OWASP Top 10 is to educate developers, designers, architects, managers, and organizations about the consequences of the most important web application security weaknesses. The Top 10 provides basic techniques to protect against these high risk problem areas - and also provides guidance on where to go from here.

Compliance at a Glance

This section of the report is a summary and lists the number of alerts found according to individual compliance categories.

- Injection(A1)
No alerts in this category

- Broken Authentication(A2)
No alerts in this category

- Sensitive Data Exposure(A3)
Total number of alerts in this category: 17

- XML External Entity (XXE)(A4)
No alerts in this category

- Broken Access Control(A5)
No alerts in this category

- Security Misconfiguration(A6)
Total number of alerts in this category: 17

- Cross Site Scripting (XSS)(A7)
No alerts in this category

- Insecure Deserialization(A8)
No alerts in this category

- Using Components with Known Vulnerabilities(A9)
Total number of alerts in this category: 17

- Insufficient Logging and Monitoring(A10)
No alerts in this category

Compliance According to Categories: A Detailed Report

This section is a detailed report that explains each vulnerability found according to individual compliance categories.

(A1)Injection

Injection flaws, such as SQL, NoSQL, OS, and LDAP injection, occur when untrusted data is sent an interpreter as part of a command or query. The attacker's hostile data can trick the interpreter into executing unintended commands or accessing data without proper authorization.

No alerts in this category.

(A2)Broken Authentication

Application functions related to authentication and session management are often implemented incorrectly, allowing attackers to compromise passwords, keys, or session tokens, or to exploit other implementation flaws to assume other users' identities.

No alerts in this category.

(A3)Sensitive Data Exposure

Many web applications and APIs do not properly protect sensitive data, such as financial, healthcare and PII. Attackers may steal or modify such weakly protected data to conduct credit card fraud, identity theft, or other crimes. Sensitive data may be compromised without extra protection, such as encryption at rest or in transit, and requires pecial precautions when exchanged with the browser.

Total number of alerts in this category: 17

(A4)XML External Entity (XXE)

Many older or poorly configured XML processors evaluate external entity references within XML documents. External entities can be used to disclose internal files using the file URI handler, internal file shares, internal port scanning, remote code execution, and denial of service attacks.

No alerts in this category.

(A5)Broken Access Control

Restrictions on what authenticated users are allowed to do are often not properly enforced. Attackers can exploit these flaws to access unauthorized functionality and/or data, such as access other users' accounts, view sensitive files, modify other users' data, change access rights, etc.

No alerts in this category.

(A6)Security Misconfiguration

Security misconfiguration is the most commonly seen issue. This is commonly a result of insecure default configurations, incomplete or ad hoc configurations, open cloud storage, misconfigured HTTP headers, and verbose error messages containing sensitive information. Not only must all operating systems, frameworks, libraries, and applications be securly configured, but they must be patched and upgraded in a timely fashion.

(A7)Cross Site Scripting (XSS)

XSS flaws occur whenever an application includes untrusted data in a new web page without proper validation or escaping, or updates an existing web page with user-supplied data using a browser API that can create HTML or JavaScript. XSS allows attackers to execute scripts in the victim's browser which can hijack user sessions, deface web sites, or redirect the user to malicious sites.

No alerts in this category.

(A8)Insecure Deserialization

Insecure deserialization often leads to remote code execution. Even if deserialization flaws do not result in remote code execution, they can be used to perform attacks, including replay attacks, injection attacks, and privilege escalation attacks.

No alerts in this category.

(A9)Using Components with Known Vulnerabilities

Components, such as libraries, frameworks, and other software modules, almost always run with full privileges. If a vulnerable component is exploited, such an attack can facilitate serious data loss or server takeover. Applications using components with known vulnerabilities may undermine application defenses and enable a range of possible attacks and impacts.

(A10)Insufficient Logging and Monitoring

Insufficient logging and monitoring, coupled with missing or ineffective integration with incident response, allows attackers to further attack systesm, maintain persistence, pivot to more systems, and tamper, extract, or destroy data. Most breach studies show time to detect a breach is over 200 days, typically detected by external parties rathre than inernal processes or monitoring.
